

shall have made peace arrangements to cease hostilities, the United States, in the interest of humanity, will undertake to restore peace and good order.

Will Form Border Patrol.
Atlanta, Ga., March 19.—The main body of the Seventeenth Infantry, which has been stationed at Fort McPherson, left today for Eagle Pass, Texas, to join the American border patrol. Three special trains carried the troops, numbering about 800.

A detachment of three officers and twenty-one men left for the border yesterday, taking with them the regiment's field equipment and supplies. A small guard was left at the fort.

O'Shaughnessy Not Well.
Mexico City, Mex., March 19.—Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy is suffering from a severe attack of sciatica, and has been ordered by his physician to make a short trip to Vera Cruz. He will leave tomorrow night and return to the capital on Monday.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy has been suffering greatly for several days, although he has given close attention to his duties. It is believed that the attack is the result of worry and the nervous strain of maintaining his difficult position while protecting American consular officials from Huerta. Charles B. Parker, clerk of the embassy, will be in charge during Mr. O'Shaughnessy's absence.

The banking situation has been unchanged since the refusal to accede to Huerta's demand yesterday for $100,000 pesos. The next move must come from Huerta, and may be in the form of a renewal of the national bank or issue scheme.

No reliable news was received today from Torreon, Tampico or Mazatlan.

Many Bets on Outcome.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] El Paso, Texas, March 19.—But all your money that my forces will capture Torreon before March 21.

This was the message received today from Francisco Villa by one of the Constitutional leaders' friends in El Paso. A great many bets are being made on the outcome of the fighting. One Federal sympathizer has wagered $1,000 American money and $1,000 Mexican money that the Federals will win and be in control of the city of Torreon April 1.

Little light was shed on the situation around Torreon today, aside from the information conveyed in a message from General Hernandez stating that the Zaragoza brigade had joined the command of Generals Hernandez, Chao and Garcia, and that the combined forces were slowly moving on Torreon. No mention was made of any fighting, and the location of the Federal advance guard was not indicated. Military headquarters at Juarez denied any knowledge of Villa's movements. Federal officials here are equally uncommunicative.

The aeroplane which Villa had planned to use in the Torreon campaign cannot be repaired in time for the battle. The machine was damaged in an accident a week ago.

Dr. Tello, private physician to General Villa, who is to assist in caring for the wounded at Torreon, received orders today to proceed south immediately to join the hospital corps.

Attack Monterey Before Torreon.
Brownsville, Texas, March 19.—Monterey, the most important city in North-east Mexico, will be attacked within two weeks before an attempt is made to take Torreon, according to T. J. Foster, an American gunner who has been fighting with the Constitutionalists for nearly a year. Foster arrived at Matamoros from the front today.

"We will celebrate a victory in Monterey on April 2 is the word that has been spread among the Constitutional forces gathering about Monterey," said Foster, who added that March 26 had been definitely set for attack. "Four days ago I saw a message in which General Villa invited General Pablo Gonzalez and General Jesus Carranza to take a drink with him in the Monterey plaza April 4," declared Foster. "It did not say how the message was transmitted."

Monterey, capital of Nuevo Leon, is an important railroad center and the gateway to Southern Mexico. Within the last month there has been a steady concentration of eastern forces of the Constitutionalists about Monterey. Numerous minor engagements have been fought, according to reports received at the Matamoros headquarters, which said the Federals were being forced back into the city. At last reports the Constitutionalists were within twenty miles of Monterey.

Foster has been operating with eighty men, skinning and destroying railroads, and destroying property. This is one of the many small detachments which have headquarters at Ramones Station, forty-nine miles from Monterey. Foster claimed there were 1,200 Constitutionalists at Ramones Station. He confirmed reports of the recent engagement at Morales, where two trains were derailed and the Federals reported defeated with substantial loss. Foster also claimed that Monclova, an important town, has been occupied by the rebels.

Heavy shipments of ammunition continue to go westward from Matamoros.

Lind Meets Bolins.
Vera Cruz, March 19.—The Mexican Foreign Minister, Señor Portillo y Rojas, who arrived here from Mexico City today, did not call on Mr. Lind, but the two met to-night at the residence of a mutual friend. The conference lasted two hours. Neither would talk of the subjects under discussion, but Mr. Lind intimated that the conference was not important.

Philharmonic Orchestra Concert. There was the usual large and enthusiastic audience at the concert of the Philharmonic Orchestra at the City Auditorium last night.

The opening number, "Tomp and Circumstance," by Elgar, showed the orchestra has made great strides in technique. The second number, "The Tribute to Zampa," were equally well received and rendered. The audience received with marked favor the splendid work of the John Marshall School, which secured the leadership of Walter C. Mercer, and all the selections sung by this organization were excellent. Miss Alice Satterfield played Liszt's arrangement of the Weber "Polacca Brillante" in such a way as to win the warm approval of the audience. Then followed the "Intermezzo Capriccio" and the "Valse Capriccioso," both by the conductor of the orchestra, W. Henry Baker. The first was well played, but the second had to be repeated before the audience would be satisfied. The first movement of the Beethoven ended a well-rounded and enjoyable program.

TOWED INTO VIRGINIA CAPES

Disabled Four-Masted Schooner Picked Up by Revenue Cutter.

Norfolk, Va., March 19.—The disabled four-masted schooner, Elisha Atkins, of Bath, Me., bound from Tampa, Fla., for Baltimore, was towed into the Virginia Capes early today by the United States revenue cutter Onondaga, which picked her up at sea yesterday after a search of forty-eight hours. The Atkins's principal trouble was a dislocated rudder. Inside of Cape Henry the Atkins was taken in tow by a tug, and proceeded at once to Baltimore. The Atkins was a vessel well known by the steamer Verdi, which passed the disabled vessel off this coast March 18, and supplied her with provisions.

No Power to Investigate.

Washington, March 19.—The House Judiciary Committee to-night decided that it had no power to investigate the judicial conduct of Federal Judge W. G. Dayton, of West Virginia, on strength of petitions from miners and others, who complained of the judge's attitude in connection with strike troubles.

DETECTIVE BURNS MAY SEE CONLEY

Negro's Counsel Willing for Client to Be Questioned by Bona Fide Callers.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Atlanta, Ga., March 19.—Counsel for James Conley, the negro convicted as an accessory to the murder of Mary Phagan, to-day denied published reports that he had filed a written demand that no visitors be permitted, without their consent, to see their client at the county jail. Jail officials also denied knowledge of any such demand.

William M. Smith, the attorney reported to have made this demand, said today he had no objection to Conley's being questioned by detectives or other bona fide callers, but would insist that any such interview be in the presence of the negro's counsel.

Conley testified at the trial of Leo M. Frank, who is under sentence to die on April 17 for the murder, that he had helped conceal the factory girl's body after Frank had killed her. The negro recently was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for this.

Detective William J. Burns spent most of today quizzing Frank in his cell in the Tower. He was very reticent, and the convicted man's story of his movements on April 26, 1913, and his version of subsequent events.

"This case," said Burns, "is easier than I expected. There is certainly no mystery that cannot be cleared up, and the facts will speak for themselves when made public. I am confident that Mr. Burns is in a position to conviction if it should develop that a grievous mistake had been made."

"I have never expressed any conviction as to the innocence or guilt of Frank, and do not intend to do so until the investigation is completed. Of course, I hope that my findings will prove the man innocent, but I am working with an absolutely open mind. The trial certainly looks clear enough to me, and I believe Atlanta and the country at large will be satisfied that the truth has been found when the final report is made."

The detective, in talking to newspaper men, defended the solicitor who had been repeatedly attacked for his method of conducting the Frank case. "Whether my evidence agrees with that brought forward by the solicitor and city detectives or not," he added, "it will say that I have found no indication of conspiracy on their part, and am certain they have been untiring in their efforts to arrive at the exact truth."

The reference, it was explained, was to recent affidavits made public here, charging conspiracy of evidence against Frank.

PREACHER SAYS FRANK DESERVES ANOTHER TRIAL

(Continued From First Page.) mongrel negro of scandalous habits and blackest character, Frank was convicted, and this after Conley had made two other affidavits, both of which contradicted the one on which the conviction was had. I sincerely hope that the Supreme Court will grant the extraordinary motion, and allow a new and impartial trial."

Fire at Fort Lee Causes Loss of $750,000 to Eclipse Company.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] New York, March 19.—The factory of the Eclipse Motion Picture Company, one of the largest concerns of the kind in the country, was destroyed by fire this afternoon at Fort Lee, N. J. The loss is placed at $750,000. Of this, $100,000 is said to have been invested in machinery. The rest was in the building and contents aside from machinery.

The enormous loss was due to the explosion of a gas tank. The Hackensack Water Company, Henry Mair, the factory manager, ordered one of the moving picture photographers to take a picture of the fire, and the tank of gas, which was taken, showing the water refusing to go more than six feet from the nozzles of the fire hose.

At the time the fire was discovered, there was in the studio, rehearsing

CAMMEYER NEW YORK SHOES

PART OF RETAIL SALES DEPARTMENT

AT YOUR FEET—THE SERVICE OF THIS HUGE ORGANIZATION

Many of us think that in the small town where everyone knows everybody else, our civic interests are better served. It is undoubtedly true that in the small town there is greater sociability, but it is equally true that in the large city there is greater efficiency. The big city on account of its very size can and must develop economic, sanitary, protective, educational and judicial appliances beyond the power of the small town. Business is much like that. The big business can and must develop these very same functions to the highest degree. In this regard here is the story of what Cammeyer has accomplished in the shoe business by being in the largest city in the United States.

CAMMEYER "ECONOMY" is practically automatic. It is derived from our immense buying and selling power. By actual comparison it has been found that other makes of equal quality are marked from 25 to 33% higher than the Cammeyer shoes.

CAMMEYER "SANITATION"
includes not only the clean, beautiful conditions under which our shoes are manufactured, but the extreme care taken in the fashioning of the shoes lest they prove injurious to the ultimate wearer.

CAMMEYER "PROTECTION" against wrong or unsensitively is insured by our designers who are practically the creators of American Shoe Fashion; protection against dissatisfaction for any reason whatsoever by our complete Guarantee.

"BENEVOLENT EDUCATORS"
do not pretend to be, but through our publicity work is undeniably selfish in origin, in effect it spreads the news of good footwear to many who otherwise might not be enabled to hear of it and profit thereby.

AND AS FOR "JUSTICE"
it is our iron-bound law that the customer is always in the right. Perhaps it is unnecessary to add that very rarely does the customer have cause for complaint. Things do go wrong once in a while, there can be no denying. Even so in the best regulated of families. But at every point our absolute guarantee to bear all responsibility safeguards you.

OUR THREE FOLD GUARANTEE
protects you from beginning to end. Due to the self-measuring device which we have originated and which is thoroughly explained in our catalogue, we can, without drawback or proviso, guarantee a perfect fit. Secondly, we guarantee that any shoe on the market of equal quality would cost you from 25 to 33% more. And finally, if you feel that your shoes are not giving entire satisfaction, we request that you return them to have the matter adjusted at once. Could we do any more to prove our absolute confidence in our shoes?

SOCIABILITY vs. SERVICE.
It is unfortunate that we cannot meet each other face to face, and shake each other's hand now and then. But, though this is a big organization and distant, it is by no means an impersonal one. Your instructions will be attended to by one man, who will be thereafter your salesman. He is thoroughly imbued with our spirit, and before long you will feel as if you knew both of us.

These discontinuous but never ending discussions about the crops and the weather will be lacking, but through efficient service and increased satisfaction will come that regard and that respect which outweigh mere "sociability."

Have you written yet for the Spring and Summer catalogue? Orders are filled, you know, within 24 hours of the time they are received.
